Art Unit: 2823

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefore, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 17-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because they improperly embrace or overlap two different statutory classes of invention, namely, device and method for using a device, which statutory classes are set forth only in the alternative in 35 U.S.C. 101. See MPEP 2173.05(p). Process limitations do not properly form part of a claim to a device, such as, in claim 17, lines 12, 14, and 17, "serving as".

Also, claims 1-15, and 17-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, because they are directed to both device and method for using a device. As a result, the scope of the claims cannot be determined. See Ex parte Lyell 17 USPQ2d 1548 (8/16/1990).

The recitation of connecting a source of constant voltage is a recitation of using the device. The claims are drawn to both making a connected device and using the device to transfer heat and electricity. The claims should recite capabilities of the elements provided as opposed to active process steps if a method of making a device is intended.
